GROUP OF BUILDINGS

COMPETITION OF ARCHITECTS FOR DESIGNS INVITED.

Report of President Needham of George Washington University Approved by Board of Trustees.

Arrangements have been made for the competition of architects on plans for the group of buildings to be constructed for the George Washington University on the property now known as Van Ness Park. The board of trustees of the university has approved the following portion of President Needham's annual report, read last Wednesday evening:

"With the close of the fiscal year the university ceased the use of its old name, Columbian, and on the day following assumed the new name, the George Washington University. This action was taken pursuant to an agreement with the George Washington Memorial Association, by which that association undertakes to raise the sum of $500,000 to erect a building to be known as the George Washington Memorial, and to be used by the university as its administration building, for scientific lectures, instruction in politics and diplomacy, and, if required, for the meetings of international boards of arbitration; the building to be wholly under the control of the university. I am pleased to report that the Memorial Association has commenced an active campaign. Two meetings were held last summer—one in California, and one in Utah—which I attended, and both of these state organizations will raise their share of the funds. Other meetings are being planned to be held in New York, Boston and other cities.

Fund of $100,000 Needed.

"I feel confident that this association will fulfill its agreement with the university. As soon as $100,000 are secured by the association the building will be commenced. We are striving to raise this sum and lay the corner stone at the convocation to be held on the 22d of February next. In order to carry forward this work successfully it is important that definite plans be agreed upon for the memorial building. As the architecture of the memorial building and its general character will determine the architecture of all of the buildings in the group to be placed upon Van Ness Park, it is important that definite plans be prepared.

"As the result of conference with the committee of the association I recommend the following: (1) That five architects, or firms of architects, to be designated by the two executive committees as competitors, who shall submit a general scheme for the improvement of Van Ness Park and a definite plan for the memorial building.

Terms of Competition.

"That this competition be invited upon the following terms, namely: The competing architects each to have an honorarium of $200, with the understanding that all plans may be rejected, but if any plan is accepted the successful architect shall, in lieu of the honorarium, be paid 3 per cent for all drawings and specifications, general and special, for the building or buildings constructed under the plans so adopted, payments to be made as the building or buildings progress.

TAKING CARE OF PARKER.

He is Placed on Two New York Commissions.

A dispatch from New York says: Within a day after he declared himself a resident of this city former Judge Parker received two good appointments at the hands of Judge O'Gorman of the supreme court, which will net him a nice sum, and will occupy at least a portion of his time for more than a year to come.

Mr. Parker paid a visit to the county court house yesterday, and had luncheon and a consultation with Judges Truax and O'Gorman, and also paid his respects to several other judges. It was about the same time that his appointment to two commissions was made known.

LABOR LEADERS AT 'FRISCO.

Animated Debate Over Expulsion of Unions—Jurisdiction Discussed.

The Chicago Federation fight was thrashed out on the floor of the federation convention at San Francisco yesterday afternoon, but after a hot and acrimonious debate lasting two hours and a half the matter was finally referred to the committee on local and federated bodies, with instructions that a report be rendered at the earliest possible moment.

The point at issue rested upon the refusal of the Chicago Federation to comply with the demands of the American Federation to expel two local Chicago unions. The basic principle of the whole dispute rested on a question of trade jurisdiction over the two Chicago unions in question, which were not affiliated with the national body.

They were upheld by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, but the Chicago Federation persisted in disregarding the ruling and allowed two seceding unions to affiliate with the central body. The Chicago Federation was thereupon expelled from the national body until such a time as it saw fit to comply with the edict of the executive council. The Chicago delegates were desirous of making a motion to the effect that the convention appoint a special committee to journey to Chicago as soon as possible after the meeting of the convention, to study the situation at first hand. In the interim they desired that William G. Schardt, president of the Chicago Federation, and delegates of the body to the present convention, be seated.

This was designated by the opposition as a mere postponement of the question, and was overruled. The debate was finally stopped by a motion carried by a bare majority, setting 4:10 o'clock as a limit after which no speeches on the question could be delivered.

Resolutions regarding Japanese exclusion and the eradication of tuberculosis were tabled, that they might be reconsidered. Fraternal delegates from Great Britain and Canada were heard at the Federation of Labor convention today.

James Wignall of the former country was first introduced, and was given a great ovation.

William Abraham, a member of the British parliament, was cordially received.

Thomas Dolan, aged about seventy years, fell or was thrown from his wagon opposite Cameron Lodge, about a mile north of Gordonsville, Va., late Tuesday evening and suffered injuries from which he died an early hour Wednesday morning. He lived near Somerset.

COLERIDGE-TAYLOR BALLADS.

Large Audience Greeted Their Presentation Last Night.

S. Coleridge-Taylor, the colored composer and conductor, delighted another large audience at Convention Hall last night, with his "Three Choral Ballads" were sung in public for the first time. The chorus of two hundred voices blended perfectly and maintained the pleasing standard set the previous evening in "Hawatha." The Marine Band orchestra, however, again demonstrated its unfamiliarity with the score and thus prevented what otherwise would have been a faultless concert. The soprano and tenor soloists also appeared at a disadvantage, partly due to the great size and poor acoustics of the hall.

Mr. Harry T. Burleigh, barytone soloist, scored a hit. His singing, which was endorsed so extensively in "Hawatha," was even better last night. He sang "Beat, Beat, Drums," with a volume and accuracy which was decidedly refreshing.

Samuel Coleridge-Taylor is a versatile. The work last evening evidenced this beyond any shadow of doubt. It was also apparent that his reputation as a composer and musician of the first rank has been well earned. The sentiment, action and company are in contrast with the "Hawatha" setting. The scoring is more intricate and showed the chorus at a slight disadvantage. The ballads only recently have been completed by Mr. Taylor and more practice and training on the part of the chorus is essential to perfect rendition. The climaxes were well approached and well sustained, and taken in its entirety, the effect was beautiful.

The other number on the program from Mr. Taylor's pen consisted in the "African Dances," of which the violin part was played by Mr. Clarence Cameron White, with the composer at the piano. Mme. Estelle Pinckney Clogh sang the "Indian Bell Song" from Delibes' "Lakme." The chorus rendered, in addition, Coleridge-Taylor's "Farewell, O Hawatha," from "Hawatha's Departure," and Sir Arthur Sullivan's "O Gladstone Light."

Frank S. Black for the Cabinet.

A dispatch from New York says: Former Gov. Frank S. Black, who returned to New York last night from Troy, has been tendered an offer of the Attorney Generalship in President Roosevelt's cabinet for the term beginning March 4, 1905. While President Roosevelt has not formally invited Mr. Black to become a member of his official family, the tender of the Attorney Generalship has been made in a way that carries with it the assurance that the President would like to have New York's former governor in his new cabinet.

President Roosevelt is expected to be the guest of honor at a monster dinner, which 1,200 of the men who made speeches throughout the campaign are to give at the Waldorf-Astoria on the night of November 30, to celebrate the victory.

William Offman, a restaurant proprietor, who was held up, shot and robbed on the street in Frostburg, Md., some time ago, was again shot and robbed by Alfred Jeffries, who became angry because Offman did not give him paper and tobacco to make a cigarette.

Inspector Averill of the United States army engineers' office has gone to the lower river to look after a sunken raft, which forms a dangerous obstruction to navigation off Swan Point. The raft is one that broke loose from the steamers Lily and Steward in a gale on the river several months ago. Detached logs from the raft are reported to include chains, beams of the river and Mr. Averill will endeavor to locate them in order to have them removed. On his return to this city the inspector will locate the obstruction in the Georgetown channel that damaged the tug Carter, and will arrange to have it removed before further damage is done. It is believed to be the wreck of an old tug and scow which has sunk on the edge of the channel and of which no report has ever been made.
